By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The United States Navy today is seeking to avenge the death of 11 American sailors who are believed to have lost their lives in the torpedo attack on the destroyer Kearny off Iceland last Friday.

Naval quarters in Washington indicated that American warships in the north Atlantic are intensifying their efforts to hunt out and capture or destroy the submarine which fired at the Kearny.

Destroyer In Dock

The destroyer, in dock at an undisclosed port, brought 10 other injured members of the crew ashore, after its encounter with what the navy department described as "undoubtedly" a German submarine.

With the Nazis apparently drawing first blood in the undeclared naval warfare that now appears to be developing between the United States and Germany this side of Iceland, diplomatic quarters forehee increased tension between the two countries.

The state department is inclined to let the guns of the U. S. navy deliver this country's protest over the loss of 11 of Uncle Sam's sailors and the injuring of ten others.

Protests Of Little Use

American officials still feel that diplomatic protests to Berlin these days serves little useful purpose.

However, it is thought likely that

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20.—Sixteen-year-old Raymond L. Woodward, Jr., against the advice of his lawyers but at the behest of his parents who wanted to avoid the horror and grief of a trial, today dramatically pleaded guilty to a charge of first degree murder in connection with the brutal slaying of his 15-year-old chum, Constance Shipp, in a Reading Baptist parsonage.

Under Massachusetts law, Superior Court Judge Harold P. Williams must sentence the youth to the electric chair. However, after sentence, defense counsel may start a move for a commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment. This can be granted only by Governor Leverett Saltonstall and his executive council.

President Studies New Kearny Details

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. J., Oct. 20—President Roosevelt was in full possession today of grim details recounting first navy casualties suffered as a result of the torpedoing of the U. S. S. Kearny south of Iceland—but temporary headquarters at Hyde Park for the time being refrained from any comment.

Likewise, the president was informed on Russia's apparently critical need for immediate and large-scale war goods aid from the United States and Great Britain in a report brought back by W. Averell Harriman, chief of the American mission which recently compared notes with the Soviet military command and British spokesmen in Moscow.

New Premier Calls For "Iron Unity" In Japan

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

TOKYO, Oct. 20.—Gen. Hideki Tojo, Japan's militaristic new premier, isued a call today for "iron unity" to deal with what he termed the encirclement of Japan by foreign powers at this "crucial hour."

In a strongly worded order of the day, Tojo said iron unity must be established among "all the fighting arms and the people of Japan" to cope with foreign encirclement.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Recent Japanese utterances have accused the United States and Britain of seeking to encircle Japan.)

At Cross Roads

The new premier expressed satisfaction regarding progress made in Japan's armament program and declared:

"I cannot but be deeply impressed at standing at the helm of the cabinet, while holding leadership of the army at this crucial hour."

Stressing that Japan stands at the cross-roads of life and death, Tojo urged members of the war office to prepare to "sacrifice everything" in order to surmount the current crisis.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A Reuters (British) dispatch from Tokyo said it was felt Tojo will make a thorough review of official appointments before launching his new program.

(The dispatch said he already has completely reshuffled the home affairs ministry, of which he is in charge, and has made top-to-botton changes in direction of the Tokyo police and certain changes in governorships of various Japanese prefectures.)

Fourth report Tuesday, 8 a. m.

For the fourth time since the campaign opened two weeks ago, Community Chest campaigners will gather in The Castleton for another breakfast report meeting Tuesday at 8 a. m.

They are confident that their goal of $65,000 will be reached—whether it will be tomorrow morning, though, they can't feel sure. But their hopes are high, and, goal or no goal, they'll chalk up a substantial sum which will give a healthy boost to the $41,124 already subscribed.

Loose collections in all the city's churches yesterday went to the Community Chest fund. No collection figures could be obtained.

Like at the report tally, the industrial division—prime division of the drive—will predominate in the figure column Tuesday, leaders say. Reports—partial, at least—from the larger industries should be heard tomorrow.

The campaign high command regards the early morning report rallies "the peppiest we've ever had".

Ship Arming Hearings Will Be In Secret

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The senate foreign relations committee meets today to plan a course of action on the house-approved bill repealing the neutrality act ban on arming of cargo ships as the news of casualties in the torpedoing of the U. S. destroyer Kearny intensified demands for American action against aggressor nations.

Despite the fact that some members oppose public hearings, the foreign relations committee is expected to order a series of limited public sessions beginning tomorrow

The committee may decide whether it will consider proposals to broaden the house bill and recommend repeal also of neutrality act provisions which prevent American merchant ships from entering combat zones around the British Isles.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—The battle for Moscow raged unabated today in a great semi-circular front extending from a point east of Kalinin through Mozhaisk, west of Moscow, to the Tula region in the south.

Advices to Berlin said the fighting roared with greatest ferocity in the Tula area, with the best of the "left-over" Russian forces offering desperate resistance to the German onslaughts.

Rain, Sleet and Snow

With rain, sleet and snow increasing the hardships of the fighting forces, these reports stated, German troops found the deep defense belt around the beleaguered Red capital "manned to capacity".

Nevertheless, it was stated, the German forces are steadily moving toward their primary goal, which appears to be complete smashing of all resistance outside Moscow.

At the same time, German authorities said, the pincer maneuver around the city is progressing daily to narrow the avenue of escape east of the capital.

Meanwhile, the Luftwaffe was said to be subjecting the constantly shrinking outlet to a constant aerial pounding.

While Moscow rocked under the frontal onslaught, officials said, the German sweep encompassed the Donetz basin in the south, ousting the Soviets from the most important industrial sectors.

Kearny Case May Be Probed

Naval Affairs Committee May Investigate Facts In Attack

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. — With disclosure that the torpedoing of the U. S. Destroyer Kearny resulted in 11 crew members missing and 10 injured, two senators today suggested that the Senate Naval Affairs committee investigate the circumstances surrounding the incident.

Both Senators Gillette (D) Iowa and Nye (R) N. D., said that congress should obtain all the facts in the Kearny case through the Naval Affairs committee, which investigated the first clash between the destroyer Greer and a submarine.

"I am going to suggest to Senator Walsh (committee chairman) that our naval affairs committee inquire into all of the facts and circumstances," said Gillette.

Senator Nye asserted that the report of the Naval Affairs committee showed that the facts in the Greer case were at variance with both the first navy report and President Roosevelt's description of the incident.

Germans Throw In Fresh Forces Despite Enormous Losses Says Moscow Radio

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 20.—New advances by Chancellor Hitler's legions on the Moscow front were admitted by the communist newspaper Pravda in Moscow today as the Russian capital sped preparations to withstand a Nazi siege.

The Moscow radio quoted Pravda as stating:

"Despite enormous losses the Germans are throwing in fresh forces, especially tanks, and are making successful advances in a number of directions on the Moscow front.

"Many thousands of civilians are building fortifications around Moscow. Every street is becoming a fortress."

A new Russian high command communique, meanwhile, said fighting continued throughout the night on the entire front.

Fierce Fighting

"Fighting was particularly fierce in the directions of Mozhaisk (62 miles west of Moscow) and Maloya-Roslavetz (65 miles southwest of the capital,)" the communique said.

Earlier, tremendous fighting in which Russian units broke out of a Nazi iron ring was reported raging west of Moscow after Premier Josef Stalin proclaimed a state of siege for the capital and the surrrounding region.

(Editor's note: Berlin announced capture of Taganrog, on the Sea of Azov, by German forces and declared powerful Russian counter-attacks northwest of Moscow had been beaten back.

Petrillo Dies In Electric Chair

Makes Plea As He Goes To Chair

Convicted Ringleader In "Murder-For-Insurance" Ring Pays Death Penalty

CLAIMS INNOCENCE TO LAST MINUTE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 20.—Herman Petrillo, suave ringleader of the notorious Philadelphia "murder-for-insurance" ring, died early today in the electric chair, pleading for mercy and maintaining his innocence.

"Gentlemen, give me a chance to prove my innocence," he cried to witnesses as he was placed in the chair.

"You wouldnt' want to witness the death of an innocent man," said the man who was accused by the state of having participated in more than a score of cold-blooded murders. "I want to see the governor."

Sobs For Mercy

The lethal shock of 2,000 volts struck him as he continued to sob for mercy. Over the hum of the electric current could be heard the voice of William Jones, young Pittsburgh Negro who was slated to accompany Petrillo to the chair but was respited Saturday by Gov. Arthur H. James. From a nearby cell in "death row" in a loud, clear voice he sang "Holy, holy holy, there's rest for the weary."

The 'contact man' for the 25-member ring, which specialized in advising wives how to do away with their husbadns and collect their insurance money, was placed in the chair at Rockview penitentiary at 12:29 a. m. and pronounced dead three minutes later.

Second To Die

Petrillo was the second of the murder ring to die in Pennsylvania's electric chair. His cousin, Paul Petrillo, went unprotestingly to his death last March 31. Numerous others, including several women accomplices, are serving long prison sentences.

Up until the last moment Petrillo believed he would be reprieved, said Dr. J. W. Claudy, prison superintendent. He had often boasted that he would "beat the rap". Originally three men had been slated to die together, Harold B. Frisbie, Bucks county farmer, also being respited last Friday. Both Frisbie and Jones will receive mental tests.

Petrillo, 52 and a naturalized citizen, was twice convicted and sentenced to death. The first verdict was overturned by the state supreme court, but was again tried and convicted of first degree murder, this time on another count, the death by drowning of Rafael Caruso, a cripple, in the Schuylkill river on July 21, 1934. Petrillo fought the case to the U. S. supreme court and only last Thursday the state board of pardons rejected his final appeal.

Operated For Years

Police authorities in Philadelphia, who "broke" the fantastic case in 1938, said the ring operated for at least six years and accounted for 26 known deaths. Many others, some say as high as 100, are believed to have died at the hands of the ring which specialized in arsenic murders but did not hesitate to employ other methods, such as drowning and bludgeoning.

Petrillo received no visitors after his arrival Saturday at the Rockview penitentiary from Philadelphia. He made no special request for food, said the warden. He died leaving a wife and five children. His body was claimed by his sister, Miss Dolores Petrillo. The condemned man spent his last day reading a prayer book.

Mebers of the ring and its victims were traced to three other states in addition to Pennsylvania. Tales of magic and witchcraft filled the testimony of the fantastic court trials which followed. In addition to the two electrocuted, 11 are serving life imprisonment, including two of the ring's "Borgias", another "lifer" died in prison, five received terms ranging from two to 20 years, and one, Max Bolber, the "witch doctor", is still awaiting sentence.

MOTOR CLUB HAS VICTORY DINNER

post prandial ringmaster (toastmaster to you), James K. Love got back into the groove Saturday night and handled the program of the victory dinner. His long absence hasn't dulled his wit, nor lessened his ability to bind a program together with the cement of good feeling.

Like all good toastmasters, Mr. Love kept his own remarks brief and to the point.

The first speaker was George Lowe of the Highway Safety Bureau of the Department of Revenue, Harrisburg. He congratulated the club upon building its membership to 880, but reminded them that a large club had responsibilities in teaching and practicing safety upon the highways.

Judge Howard Hughes

Judge Howard Hughes, of Washington county, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, was the closing speaker and a most interesting one. "Live and talk the ways of safety," he emphasized in his address. He reminded his audience of the tragedies that occur daily upon the highway that could be avoided if people used simple courtesy.

"If I bump you coming through a doorway, I apologize and act as courteous as I can," said Judge Hughes. "You, in turn, are courteous in the matter, and there are no hard feelings. But let one of bump the fender of the other's automobile and the language is terrible."

"You have a grand club in New Castle and you have been most helpful in safety measures," concluded the judge. "This has been especially true in school patrols which you aided in establishing. With an increased membership I know you will go on to bigger and better accomplishments."

Tribute to Veterans

Of the five living charter members of the New Castle Motor club, only four were present: John S. Abel, Frank S. Hoyt, David S. Pyle and Fred L. Rentz. The fifth, A. Crawford Hoyt, was unable to be present, but sent his regrets.

In behalf of the club Mr. Love presented the four present with gold membership cards in the motor club and thanked them for the foundation they laid back in 1907.

The dinner was a successful one and highlighted a campaign that has brought the club to the peak of its membership.

occasion for which they gathered and the duties they are to uphold. A note of commendation was given to Mrs. Owen E. Tighe for her cooperation in the banquet, and on her anniversary, on behalf of the group, a lovely orchid was presented to her, the presentation being made by Thomas Cunningham, master of ceremonies.

Grand Knight Francis J. Augostine addressed the group, extending greetings and a word of welcome to the guests. The banquet was originally scheduled to be on Columbus Day, but due to the Holy Name rally last Sunday, the event was postponed.

Brief remarks were also made about the patron of the order, Christopher Columbus. The Rev. V. V. Stancelewski, the next speaker, congratulated the organization and the U. S. army representatives and also thanked all those who assisted him, the local Holy Name director, at the Holy Name rally. Father Stancelewski added that "in a world of today we should be united in our minds—having one cause to fight for, and that is safety of our own country."

Others Speak

Walter Kieler, another speaker, made appropriate remarks and commented upon the fine army and the men in service.

Captain Frederick Grant, commanding officer of western Pennsylvania recruiting and induction station, gave thanks in behalf of the group. Also speaking were the following guests: Lt. Colonel A Milligan, medical officer of army induction; Pittsburgh; Lt. A. W. Farmer, assisting recruiting and publicity officer, and Lt. A. B Gordon, medical officer to the U S. army, Pittsburgh. Another commanding officer guest was Sgt. Earl G. Kennedy, top sergeant of recruiting for western Pennsylvania Master of Ceremonies Thomas Cunningham also made a few fitting remarks, and the speakers' program closed with prayer by Father Stancelewski.

An entertaining program was featured later in the evening, which included a comedy sketch by Francis J. Augostine, grand knight, and Harry Ross. The master of ceremonies for the program was H. M Black, local entertainer, who favored with "Only Forever". Thomas Cunningham sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", followed by "O Marie," by Grand Knight Augostine. "Amopola" was sung by Sgt. William Decker, an out-of-town officer. A dance concluded the entertainment of the evening music being provided by a local popular orchestra.

General chairman of the event was Richard Burke, who was assisted by a group of committees. Ladies who assisted at the tables included: Mrs. Joseph Flynn, Dorothy and Mildred Donegan, Catherine Nugent, Mrs. Helen Augostine Martha Haffner and Mrs. Rose Tighe.

U. S. PROTEST WILL BE MADE BY NAVY GUNS

either President Roosevelt or one of the high-ranking members of the government will vigorously condemn the loss of American lives in the attack on the Kearny.

Administration leaders in congress already are calling for vengeance. Sen. Connally (D) Tex., chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said:

"We shall avenge the attamk on the Kearny.

While both congressional and governmental quarters took a serious view of the Kearny incident, it was not thought that it will be sufficient in itself to lead to any declaration of war against Germany.

Must Be Expected

Non-interventionist members of congress feel that such incidents must be expected to occur while the navy is engaged in carrying out President Roosevelt's "shoot first" orders.

Unless a series of such incidents occur with an even more serious loss of life, it is not deemed likely that the administration will attempt to make the matter an issue for this country's formal entry into the war.

Meanwhile, it was learned on high authority that the United States government has submitted to Germany a formal protest for more than $2,000,000 in connection wtih the sinking of the American merchantman Robin Moor in the south Atlantic May 21 last.

The Robin Moor, encoute to Africa, was sunk by a German submarine after the passengers and crew ahd been ordered into life boats. President Roosevelt, in a special message to congress, assailed the sinking of the vessel as the act of an "international outlaw" and served notice that full reparation would be sought.

moved luftwaffe bases up within easy striking distance of the oil regions of Batum and Baku—the latter only 600 miles away as the crow flies. German authorities said Baku now will be an "easy prey" for the luftwaffe.

German officials were reticent regarding detailed operations on the southern front, but said there were no indications of any set-backs.

Authorities said they expected important announcements will be issued Wednesday upon conclusion of four months of the Russo-German war.

Continuous advances by Axis and Allied forces on the southern Russian front were announced by the German high command in a brief communique today.

Claim Advances

"In the southern part of the eastern front," the bulletin said, "German, Italian, Hungarian and Slovak divisions are advancing continually towards the industrial region of the Donetz basin.

"At other sectors of the front, operations are progressing successfully.

"On the entire eastern front the German air force directed effective attacks against important railway lines and traffic communications."

(Editor's note: A British radio broadcast heard by NBC and CBS in New York said both German and Italian newspapers warned their readers the war will not end quickly and that invasion of Britain on a large scale would be hazardous.

Will Not End War

(The Frankfurter Zeitung was quoted as saying that while the German victories in the eastern front are decisive, they do not mean the end of the war in the East, and that final victory will come only after very hard fighting, as the British—seem determined to continue resistance with the same tenacity.)

Meanwhile, announcing capture of Taganrog on the Sea of Azov, German authorities declared powerful Russian counter-attacks had been beaten back by Nazi forces northwest of Moscow

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—Charging that "powerful friends' may halt the deportation of Harry Bridges, congressional sponsors of a bill to send the West Coast C. I. O. leader from the country today announced they will open a drive for senate approval of the measure.

"There is no question that there are people in the government with the power to help Harry Bridges, and there is no doubt they are doing all they can for him," Rep. Allen (D) La., author of the special deportation bill, declared. "These people are hard to combat, but I am sure we will settle the matter by getting senate action on my bill."

Ranking officials of the navy informed Mr. Roosevelt early Sunday of full details of the destroyer Kearnys engagement which sent her limping back to port with a torpedo hit in her waterline and 11 missing sailors and 10 wounded.

Temporary executive offices here admitted that the president had received this information some hours before the navy department in Washington made additional details public about this definite naval engagement in the north Atlantic involving an Amercian warship. Beyond that, there was no comment.

ANSWER TO "FROM ME TO YOU"

Thanks for your comment on the marquise that we have been building over the sidewalk in front of our building.

When we took up our work, as an assistant to a former New Castle funeral director, it was back in the days when boys were taught, not just one thing, but to be able to do any and everything, and I owe what success I have had in business just to that training. Not only knowing how to do things, but being able to tell when others are doing things for you in the right way.

We certainly are glad that we are able, when it is impossible to get help to do things, to know that we can do them, and in so doing teach our men, who will be the future business men of the country, to be able to do, not just one thing, but numerous things. One never knows when something may turn up, where a little knowledge of the matter, will be a great help to any man.

NEW JAP BELLIGERENCY

DEVELOPMENT of a renewed spirit of belligerency in Japan is a logical consequence of the turn for the worse in the fortunes of beleaguered Russia and the apparent determination of Britain to conserve its military resources for the protection of its own shores.

Japan's international policies are extremely sensitive to the varying winds. For a time, when Russia was displaying unexpected powers of resistance and there seemed to be a possibility that Nazi strength would be dissipated in futile attacks on the Eastern Front, Japan's ardor for the Axis cause waned. The rampant militarists, obsessed with the idea of dominating the East, retired temporarily to obscurity.

But now there has been a transformation in the whole situation and Japan has shifted accordingly. Russia, whose doom has been predicted so often in the past, once again seems facing defeat. The fortunes of the Axis are again in the ascendant. Tokyo accordingly becomes once more a loyal and devoted partner of the Axis.

This decision contains grave implications for the United States. But that the nation's naval and military leaders are ready there can be no doubt.

This nation's course will be strictly adhered to, and that includes the policy of furnishing all possible aid to the Allies, including Russia, as well as protecting its own interests wherever they may be endangered and by whatever means may be necessary to accomplish this purpose.

Japanese interference with American aims and purposes will not be tolerated by the American people or by their government.

PEACE MILE-STONE

The newly-concluded trade pact between Argentine and the United States has been greeted with special acclaim in both countries. And no wonder. The last comprehensive commercial agreement between them was arranged only 12 years short of a century ago.

The absence of such a treaty, and the length of time required to work out the one just signed in Buenos Aires, are evidence of the difficulties involved. Mutual jealousies and rivalries have existed.

One nation has resented the attitude of the other. Selfish interests have weighed more heavily than the good of either nation or of the sisterhood of republics in this hemisphere.

Now, with the new peril threatening them as never before, public authorities have been willing at last to make mutual concessions in order to attain an end desirable for both countries.

Critics have become vocal at once in the United States and perhaps in Argentina. As a rule they represent special groups and interests. If their protests can be successfully refuted, and if the public in each country, supports the government, it may indeed prove to be what President Roosevelt raid: "A monument to the ways of peace."

TAKE EXERCISE BY PROXY

Baseball as philosophic observers know, is not merely a sport. It is largely, and perhaps primarily, what psychologists call an "escape." People throng to the ball grounds by tens of thousands to watch two small groups of men playing a game that they would like to play themselves, if they had the skill or energy or opportunity. For a little while they can put themselves in the players' places, imagine themselves performing brilliant athletic feats and go home satisfied or disgusted, as the case may be, with what "their team" has done.

There is drama, too. That is a large part of it, and one reason why women take more and more interest in the game. But probably the mental "escape" theory still holds good.

Back of all this mental and emotional stress liberated at a ball game is the sad fact of the athletic slump of civilized man. The more our civilization progresses, as gauged by the usual standards, the more we take our play and exercise by proxy, the less vigorous our bodies become, the more we tend to lose our natural physical skills. Childhood and youth still retain a good deal of vigor and find outlets for it, but most grown-ups tend to grow physically soft and remain in that degenerate state.

There seems to be more hope lately for the women. They are taking to the athletic life as men recede from it. Eventually they may be doing most of the running and kicking and hiking and ball-playing, while their men-folk look on.

HAPPIGRAMS

by ERICH BRANDEIS

Juan A. Meono, for 16 years master of razor and scissors, won the award of the New Jersey Master-Barbers association for the "All-American Haircut of 1942."

To the layman, the model he brought along looked like any other man whose hair is neatly trimmed, but among the barbers attending the convention, the winning coiffure caused "ohs" and "ahs."

According to the judges' decision, the main reason for awarding the prize to Meono was that his haircut did not betray its owner as having just come from the barber chair.

And that, in the main, is the secret of all good taste—whether in manners, in dress, in speaking, or anything else—to be perfect without flaunting perfection.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELP PUPILS TAKE PRIDE IN SPELLING

Practically any one who can read fairly well can also learn to spell. Yet some pupils in the upper grades, students in high school and college, even graduates from high school and college are bad spellers.

Needless to say, the poor speller is handicapped seriously. Most of his written work at school would be graded higher but for the misspellings in it. When, moreover, he writes a social letter he may be ridiculed for the way he spells; and if he writes a businses letter a single misspelled word may prove costly. Suppose it is an application for a coveted job or position!

The home can help. When the pupil or student prepares written work at home and asks you to spell words for him, never be too busy or preoccupied to do so gladly.

In case you yourself can't spell the word and must look it up in the dictionary, the trouble you go to will prove to him your interest and companionship and render him more ready to use the dictionary himself.

Parents Can Help

If you merely tell him to look up the word, he won't but will guess and probably spell it wrong. Besides, he will suppose you don't consider his success important. What you want to do is to help him acquire a spelling conscience.

You also might induce this poor speller to keep a note book in which he will enter the words he most often misspells, copying them from his returned papers. Naturally he will have some of them entered wrong. You might well copy them neatly and clearly in another book. Be sure you make no ridiculing remarks about his misspellings in his note book or elsewhere.

A Good Plan

You might induce him to devote 15 or 20 minutes an evening to learning to spell a certain number of these words from the note book. Such a plan if followed strictly should net good results.

As he studies them, urge him to dwell on one word at a time until he knows it, and not to try himself out on any word until he is sure he can spell it. He should never spell a word wrong if he can help it.

How helpful a parent may be in these ways will depend on her self-control, skill and earlier relationships with the child. There must be no tensions, no rebuke, no ridicule; only kindly cooperation, to guarantee good results.

A copy of my "Home Helps for Poor Spellers" may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I have found no punishment to cure my child eight years old of biting her nails.

A. And you never will. Her case is not one for punishment but for more love and companionship. Work on yourself to gain more rest, relaxation and poise. Keep your voice soft and low. Encourage her to play out of doors but not for too long periods at a time. By writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, you may receive, without cost, a copy of my special bulletin on nail-biting.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THE MARK OF MUNICH

Three years ago, an old man with a black umbrella stepped from a plane at London's Croydon airport Waving a paper, he said: "It means peace in our time!" Chamberlain had come back from Munich!

Today Chamberlain is dead, and a million others have died with him. Men have died in the sloshing mud of a Russian fall. Men have died in the waves of the Atlantic. Men have died in the air plunging, dropping falling, their bodies twisted by the agony of a dive into the unknown.

The mark of death is on the world, the mark of Munich. In the three years since that day, death has checked off the old man from Birmingham and the sons and daughters of a million other old men of London and Kiev.

This is the tragedy he worker to aver... This is the dark mantle he sought to turn back with his umbrella and his pen. This is the disaster he read in the signs by the side of the road.

And who can say whether he was right or wrong? Did Munich mean fewer deaths or more? Did Munich mean a greater disaster or less? Did Munich mean time for England to arm, or time for Germany to become invincible? Was Munich a reprieve or a death sentence?

The full answer to those questions is a theme for history, but at least this much is clear of its meaning. Force knows no equal but force! The pen of appeasement is no match for the first of war!

In this year of war, three candles light the birthday cake of appeasement. A million crosses mark the fields of the old world. They are the mark of Munich!

We know what rapture means.

So welcome, baby darling,

Pete entered a lecture hall the other evening and found he had gotten into a temperance meeting by mistake.

"If I brought a donkey a pail of water and a pail of beer, which would he drink?" the lecturer asked.

"The water," said a member of the audience.

"And why would he drink the water?" cried the lecturer.

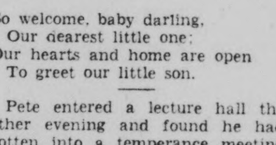

"Because he's a jackass," shouted Pete.

Neighbors had complained that early morning noises from a textile factory in Long Island City, Queens, kept them awake. William Harbison, factory foreman, told Magistrate Henry A. The court was sympathetic—but ruled that the neighbors' sleep was more important than draperies.

HE HAD A REASON

Then there is the husband who ordered a new sink for his kitchen. He ordered a big one.

"This is the biggest we have," the plumber said. "It is restaurant size. But why do you want such a big one?"

"It's this way," the man explained. "When my wife leaves for her summer visit to her parents, she is generally gone a month."

Philadelphia's 193-year-old Assembly ball—the country's most exclusive (the privilege of attending is inherited)—has been postponed from early December to January 2. Too many scions of Main Line families are in the army now at $21 a month.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

"My husband and I have just moved from a small country town to a large city. There are many points of etiquette on which we are uncertain. One is: On what occasions is it necessary for both of us to rise to greet people and when may we remain seated? Also when should we offer to shake hands and when not?"—Wanda.

Answer: When a man is seated, he rises to greet or to be introduced to a woman. He should also rise when another man is introduced to him. If he is seated with a woman and another man comes over to talk to him, he should rise. When one of the women present rises to leave the room, all men present should rise. In fact, a man should never remain seated when a woman in the room with him during a social function is standing. It is not essential for a woman to rise to greet another women unless the latter is considerably older or her hostess. While, as I say, it is not entirely necessary for her to do so, it is perfectly all right for her to rise to accept an introduction to any woman of any age. The woman so honored surely could not be offended by such an act of grace. Indeed, she should be highly pleased. Both men and women, when in doubt, should rise, for it is better to rise at the wrong time than to remain seated at the wrong time. A woman should never stand to greet a man. Men usually shake hands when being introduced to one another and when they meet after an absence. Women may or may not offer to shake hands; but when any one offers a woman his or her hand, she should invariably accept it. When a man is introduced to a woman, he should wait until she offers her hand. But as I said, should he offer his first, she should extend hers to him.

Question: Recently, I visited the home of a socially-prominent woman. The door was opened by a maid, as she has no butler. I was surprised that the maid did not announce me to the hostess. Instead, she brought my card to her. Wasn't this rather odd?—Nancy.

Answer: A butler does announce guests; but this formality is dispensed with in houses where there are only women servants, for the latter never audibly announce guests.

In his early youth a colored gentleman had the misfortune to spend some time behind bars. The experience gave him religion and he became the neighborhood exhorter at church meetings.

One Sunday as he entered the pulpit he saw in the front pew, staring him coldly in the eye, his former cellmate in prison. Knowing at once that he was in for trouble, he had to do some quick thinking. When it came time for the sermon, he rose and said:

Redistribution Of Population Disturbs
Assistant State Secretary Makes Study
Drift From Farm To City And Back Noted

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—National population distribution would seem to be a subject particularly of interest to the census bureau, but Assistant State Secretary Adolf A. Berle has been specializing on it of late, both writing and lecturing on it, and evidently studying it most intensively.

Perhaps it would be more nearly correct to say that Adolf's concern is with RE-distribution, both the redistribution that's going on now and the RE-distribution that he foresees as necessary after the defense boom's past. Today's shifting is taking care of itself, at the cost of considerable inconvenience to the country's inhabitants, but it's in progress automatically. The next time, it clearly is apparent to Berle, a very competent economist it's going to require some excellent management, or it'll involve something a lot worse than mere inconvenience.

To begin with, the United States was predominantly rural. Settlers arrived here from all over the world mainly to take up and cultivate land. Of course, there were scattered centralized communities, into which the farmers brought their crops and critters to market and in which they did their shipping, but big cities were scarce and even they weren't overly big.

Following the War of Secession, though, manufacturing started to develop on a vast scale, and that brought farm kids into the growing towns in droves, for jobs in the multiplying and expanding industrial plants. They could be spared from out on the priaries, too, because agricultural machinery had made its appearance, and fewer hands are needed to run planters, reapers and threshers than were necessary in the era when seeds were scattered manually, harvesting was done with scythes and threshing was done with flails.

Stump Halts Trend

This cityward trend continued until the first census taken after demobilization at the end of World War No. 1. That census showed 56.2 per cent of Americans living in town of at least 2 500 population and from that figure on up.

Then came the slump and the ensuing prolonged depression.

Thereupon the gravitation of jobseekers into the cities ceased. In fact, a sizable number of city-dwellers drifted into the country; the 1940 census indicated an actual shrinkage in the populations of such centers as Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

These dwindlings had hardly been chalked up, however, before the defense boom was on top of us. Immediately urban industries began hollering again for workers, and they piled into city life at such a rate that there aren't houses enough to hold 'em. The congestions worse than ever it was. Census officials calculate that, if they'd made their 1940 tally in 1941, the cities that lost by 1940's score, would be shown as breaking all previous growth records.

It's uncomfortable for those of the cities' new arrivals who have to sleep on park benches, for lack of indoors accommodations, but at least they're on payrolls and can eat.

True, there's a certain proportion of unemployment among craftsmen in non-defense industries, that have to curtail production or shut down for lack of priorities and consequent famine in raw materials. Still defense'll reabsorb 'em presently, if it keeps up its current lick.

But the thing that far-sighted observers like Adolf Berle are thinking is:

And Afterwards—

What's going to happen when Herr Hitler's polished off and defense lets up?

Part of the answer is that civilian production will get back into

What Noted People Say

KANSAS CITY — Alf. M. Landon, former Kansas governor and 1936 Republican presidential nominee, describes the American defense effort as an "alarming failure":

"The one thing on which there is complete unity is the necessity of speeding up the production of military arms and military equipment. This is the job of the chief executive and these is an increasing opinion, almost to the point of unanimity, that he is falling down on his job."

NEW YORK — Mrs. Anthony Lee Danis, wife of the commander of the torpedoed destroyer Kearny, receives word of the incident calmly:

"There is no use being doopy about this. I'm glad that everybody is safe—they're a lot of fine boys on that ship."

WASHINGTON — House Majority Leader John W. McCormick, of Massachusetts, comments on the Kearny torpedoing:

"This appears to be a part of the broad effect of the Axis to put the squeeze on the United States. The Japanese cabinet falls one day preparatory to creation of a more belligerent government and an American warship is attacked in the Atlantic the next, perhaps for the purpose of inducing us to move more of our fleet into the Atlantic."

NEW YORK — John D. Biggers, special minister to London, in charge of synchronizing British and American production, observes:

"When British and American production is properly synchronized as the President and Mr. Churchill plan, we'll have a production machine that can whip any combination of aggressors."

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1941) By The Baltimore Sun

Gloom Purveyors

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. WITH the great Russian tragedy there recently has developed here, and elsewhere, another wave of extremely pessimistic feeling about the outcome of the war comparable to that which infected both the War and State Departments, to say nothing of various political circles, when, right after the fall of France in June, 1940, it was difficult to find any of our military or diplomatic authorities who thought England could hold out for more than a month or two.

THEY were very badly mistaken then, and they made the same kind of mistake last June, when, following the Nazi attack on Russia, the almost unanimous military expert view was that the Russians would crumple up within three weeks. Now, after four months, there is a renewal of this sort of pessimism, probably justified so far as Russia is concerned by the terrible reverses of the last few weeks. Those who last June thought Russia would last only three weeks now point out that they were mistaken only in the matter of time, not in the basic fact that the crumpling was inevitable.

BUT these forecasters of disaster do not stop with the Russian doom. Looking forward to the spring, they paint the picture in colors so dark that but for the memory of their past errors the most stouthearted would be depressed. While, of course, much of this springs from the desperate nature of the Russian situation, the fact that it coincides with the opening of the fight for revision of the hampering Neutrality Act gives some ground for suspecting, that, at least in part, this extremely gloomy view of the future is tinged with propaganda not unconnected with the opposition to revision.

THE chief notes struck are that there is now no way to win the war; that talk of crushing Hitler is hollow; that the most that can be hoped is a stalemate in which both sides will find themselves exhausted and the world generally in ruins.

TRIUMPH

He took four walls and the window panes
The roof and the doorway wide.
And he kept them bright for the heart's delight
On the inner and outer side.

With laughter and song the rooms were gay
Just as long as his luck was good.
But when times turned ill as they sometimes will
As a man to the worst he stood.

And never was bittnerness let in there
Where his wife and his children stayed.
And never was heard a bickering word
And never were they afraid.

Oh, this is triumph over the years,
Life's cares, and its hurts and woes.
Four clean walls glad where joy was had
And love to the labor's close!

BIRTHDAYS of FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

OCTOBER 20

1825—Daniel Edgar Sickles, lawyer, soldier, and diplomatist, at New York City. As brigadier-general of volunteers in 1861, his first assignment was to a brigade command in the Army of the Potomac. He led a division in the battle of Antietam and became a major-general in 1863. His active service ended at Gettysburg, where he lost a leg. He was one of the few successful volunteer generals who served on either side.

1859—John Dewey, philosopher, psychologist, and educator, at Burlington, Vt. As director of the school of education at Chicago University he established an experimental school and carried out the ideas of the "new pedagogy." In this work he formulated the principles of democratic and occupational instruction, which have revolutionized educational practice in America. He became a member of the department of philosophy at Columbia University in 1904.

1802—Lydia Maria Child, author and reformer, at Medford, Mass. Three of her stories "Hobomak," "The Rebels," and "Philothea" are still popular. She edited the first monthly periodical for children ever published in the United States, crusaded against slavery and for reform in the government's treatment of the Indians. She was one of the most prominent women of her day.

Test Applicants For Operators Permit Here Tuesday

Applicants Should Study Motor Laws And Practice Driving

Applicants for a otor vehicle operator's permit have an opportunity to take a test Tuesday when the state motor police conduct examinations in Sampson street.

The applicants will be examined in the order of arrival. Last Tuesday some of the applicants came too late to receive a test.

Applicants must possess a signed learner's permit, possess the registration card for the auto to be used in the examination and also be accompanied by a licensed operator who also must have his signed license.

There have been some applicants recently who, upon receiving a learner's permit have immediately gone to the test station without having studied the motor laws and without learning to drive. Naturally they failed to pass.

Former Student's Story "Ridiculed" By State Police

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20.—State Motor police today held a former Pennsylvania State college student in custody but dismissed as "ridiculous" his assertion that he "might have killed" Rachel Taylor, murdered Penn State coed, in his sleep.

"We'll turn him over to the Centre county district attorney, if he wants him," said Capt. Harry E. McElroy, director of the state bureau of criminal identification. "That's the usual procedure, but there is no basis to his assertion that he may have killed Miss Taylor."

The ex-student surrendered voluntarily to the police, but this was not the first time he had done so, said McElroy.

The police director expressed the belief that the youth was mentally erratic. He said the youth had been educated at the Masonic home at Elizabethtown, where he was a ward, and had been sent later to Penn State college, where he spent two years.

"He's been arrested numerous times since then for vagrancy," commented McElroy.

Miss Taylor's body was found on March 28, 1940, near a Lemont, Pa., school, two miles from the college where she was a freshman student. The slaying of the Asbury, N. J. student has never been solved.

It is pointed out that War Department figures recently used by an Assistant Secretary of War concede that the Nazis have 10,000,000 trained and equipped men in their armies. We have fewer than 1,500,000 men, by no means all trained or all equipped, in ours; and the British have fewer than four million all over the world. Even if we could land an AEF on the European Continent, we would not be able to rout Hitler; but the mere idea of transporting and supplying a large American army in Europe is absurd. No one thinks it possible and no one contemplates the attempt.

CONTINUING, these prophets of gloom predict that next spring, having thoroughly cleaned up the Russians and with no army anywhere in Europe left to oppose him, Hitler can and will concentrate upon cutting the British life line in the Atlantic with an air force against which no number of naval vessels could supply adequate protection. In addition, it is contended, with Russian out, the British blockade will be ineffective both as to food and oil. Also, the idea of effective revolt in the conquered European countries by starving and unarmed people is not seriously cherished by realistic men. Finally, it is suggested that next spring, at the peak of his strength and with England threatened as never before, Hitler will put out a peace proposal which the British cannot reject.

ALL this fits beautifully into the isolationist arguments, the obvious conclusion being that, under such circumstances, prolongation of the conflict through our efforts or any further participation upon the part of America, such as is involved in neutrality repeal, would be both foolish and futile. Repeal, instead of helping our position, it is said, would make it more painful and precarious. The thing to do now is to clear our heads and look facts in the face. Actually, the goal at which we aim and which we insist must be attained before peace can be considered—to wit, the crushing of Hitler—is plainly unattainable. Utter and irretrievable economic ruin is at the end of the path we are on. The sensible thing is to stop.

ALL of which can properly be described as bosh. Even if it were true that there is no way by which the European Continent can be reconquered from Hitler, the idea of stopping either our own defense effort or our aid to the British would be unthinkable, from whatever angle it is viewed. It not only would be a craven betrayal of an ally but incredible stupidity as concerns ourselves. Stopping now or slowing down does not make sense. We have gone much too far even for hesitation. Whether Hitler can be crushed or not, the only course left for us is to arm ourselves so well that we not only cannot be successfully attacked but will be able to protect the whole Western Hemisphere from invasion.

THE salvation of Britain and the encouragement of Russia so far as it can be done are essential factors in our armament program. The longer and more successfully they resist, the more time we have to make ourselves secure against the common enemy. Even acquiescing in the contention that there is no way to beat Hitler, these things are true and there is no alternative for us save to plunge ahead along the lines laid down. But that contention is not true. It is wickedly false to say that Hitler cannot be beaten. He lives astride a seething volcano. In the end the ground under him and behind him will certainly crack and he will be engulfed. The way to hasten that end is for the United States not to relax pressure but to increase it. And repeal of the Neutrality Act is one way to increase the pressure. Otherwise, it changes our position not at all. We may be economically ruined if the war is won by our side, but if through failure to do all we can the other side wins either the war or the peace we will not only be economically ruined but spiritually destroyed and physically threatened.

Nevertheless, it's likely to be a situation that its desirable to plan for in advance. If dumped on the country ker-plunk, Economist Ser'e and others surmise that readjustment may be pretty painful.

Boom Hits Washington Office Space Short

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This nation's unprecedented $60,000,000,000 defense program has transformed Washington overnight into a rip-roaring "boom" town! The capital has never seen anything like it! Jack Vincent, one of International News Service's ace correspondents in Washington, takes you behind the scenes in the following article, first in a series of six, describing mushroom conditions that read like a cross between a sky-rocketing stock market and an oil field rush.)

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—BOOM. (Colloq. U. S.) N. A. Swollen roaring torrent; sudden activity or prosperity—Funk & Wagnalls standard dictionary, 1937 edition.

Who ever wrote that definition four years ago should go down in a history as a prophet because that is exactly what Washington is today: A swollen, roaring torrent of sudden activity and prosperity. It is 1941's No. 1 boom town!

City Crowded

There are so many angles to this $60,000,000,000 defense gusher—jobs galore, hotels jam-packed, night club cash registers working overtime, lobbyists and self-proclaimed "fixers" tripping over each other in their abundance, hotels, apartments, office buildings shooting up almost overnight—that we'd better take things one at a time.

So lets take the office space problem (you can bet that a lot of these new production officials who haven't even found desk space yet wish we would!).

In the first place the government owns 134 1-3 buildings in the District of Columbia and that 1-3 of a building is no joke either—it's where the U. S. Weather Bureau is located. (Congress only appropraited enough money to finish 1-3 of the planned structure.)

In the second place, the government rents 210 more.

In the third place, it has its eye on practically every desireable piece of property in Washington and right now is considering taking over a new luxurious 1,000 room hotel which isn't even completed!

The excavation for the $4,500,000 hotel, which is within a stone's throw of the White House, was just being started when defense officials cast a look in its direction. Building permits for the structure were issued with the distinct understanding that the government could have it if needed when finished.

Of the 134 government-owned buildings, 15 are apartment houses and hotels converted into office structures. Some of the apartment houses have been taken over with landlord's consent. Others have been virtually commandeered, in one case, where tenants refused to move, there are apartments surrounded by noisy government offices. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, the nation's first lady, has her office of civilian defense headquarters in that one building.

Government real estate, not including parks and monuments, is said to be worth more than $220,000,000 and other structures are going up as fast as they can be built.

In the 210 leased buildings, Uncle Sam rents 5,000,000 square feet of office space, in every conceivable type of housing including office buildings, apartments, old mansions and even warehouses and stables. It pays a tidy sum a year in rentals—$4,700,000.

Growth of defense agencies is responsible for much of the shortage. The OPM had to rent two floors in a downtown hotel to house the overflow. One of the hardest hit was the defense housing authority. This agency had to move into an old mansion. Later, needing more room, a stable behind the mansion was taken over. Desks were set up in servant quarters in the loft while horses still were in stalls in the stable. Later, old dobbin gave way to desks.

A new navy building, costing millions, has been completed in Arlington Va., just across the river from Washington. A new $31,000,000 army headquarters also is planned. But still the building is not adequate to meet demands. What's yours today may be the government's tomorrow—if you are a building owner in Washington.

(Tomorrow: Washington drinks and it's not tea either.)

Could Cleopatra Drink a Pearl with Stomach Ulcer Pains?

An intriguing story of Cleopatra is the one where an admirer praised the beauty of two of her pearls, whereupon she dropped one into a glass of wine and drank it. ART ASSOCIATION GUESTS AT EDINBORO

Lawrence County Art Association members, motored to Edinboro Friday, where they were guests of the Edinboro State Teachers College, a program having been arranged especially for their pleasure, in the form of a week end.

Upon arriving, the local group joined with art instructors of the college, at a 6:30 o'clock dinner served in Haven Hall.

A special tour of the campus followed, and the observing of students while working in classes, proved of great interest. On this part of the tour, the ceramics class was modelling clay into statues which were later fired in a large kiln; other students were seen painting pictures in oil and water colors; the class in design was in the act of making miniature stage settings, and most complete in all details. Especially intriguing was the class of students, making articles from tin cans, some shaping cookie cutters, sugar scoops, while others turned out novelty candelabrum and lanterns.

The New Castleites remained at the Campbell Hotel over night, and while several continued on to Erie for a sight seeing visit, others returned to this city.

On November 24, the Art Association will gather at a tea room for a session, when Mr. and Mrs. Mangus of Pittsburgh, will be here to give instructions in a new craft.

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Oct. 17.—With the last contingent to arrive back in camp from their "mopping up" duties in the maneuver areas of the recent Louisiana-Texas war games, a grizzled and hardened group of New Castle soldiers, members of the 2nd Battalion Service Battery and Battery F, 190th Field Artillery, commanded by Colonel Samuel B. Wolfe of Pennsylvania have returned to their respective units; and the luxuries of camp life.

On active service with the Headquarters Company, Third Army were Sergeants William Broad and Charles Pollock, Corporals Stewart Gibson and Leroy Hill and Private first class John Baynham of Battery F. From the Service Battery assigned to this company was Corporal Dennis Allsshouse.

Sergeants Joseph W. Anderson Gerald Book, Carl H. Kirkwood and Corporal Harry T. Pagley of the Service Battery were assigned to the Third Army, Replacement Depot. The Battery F men with this outfit were Corporals George Eve and Andrew Fronius.

At the Third Army, Headquarters Detachment, Prisoner of War Enclosure, Sergeant Walter C. Szymkowicz of Service Battery held a responsible non-commissioned officer's position.

Assigned to the 73rd Provisional Anti-Tank Battalion from the Service Battery and sharing greatly in the maneuvers were Privates first class Earl R. McVay and William R. McElroy.

The last 190th men from Lawrence County to arrive in Shelby from the field happened to be the first group to be sent out more than two month ago.

Localites attached to the Headquarters Company, Vth Army Corps including Corporal William Miron Privates first class Samuel S Travers and William Harlan of the Service Battery and Privates first class John Palmer and Adam Smith Battery F, traveled thousands of miles throughout Louisiana and Texas. They also were detailed to transport troops to the current First Army maneuvers in North Carolina before returning here. Lieutenant Richard B. Gutshall was in command of this latter group.

After months of constant service in the field the maneuverists had many tales of interesting adventure to relate as they freshened up with soap, water and clean clothing—the first in many a day.

Flying Instructor Killed In Crash

Second Instructor Is Injured In Flying Mishap In New Jersey

(International News Service)

EAST RUTHERFORD, N. J., Oct. 20.—A flying instructor was killed and another injured today in the crash of their plane in a meadow while the two were "checking each other" in a stunt flight.

Albert Ulrich, 27, of North Bergen, N. J., was instantly killed in the crash while his companion, Victor Johnson, 27, Clifton, suffered painful but not serious injuries.

The plane crashed into a field after one wing sliced into a string of New York bound automobiles on Route 3, near East Rutherford. The ship bounced after striking the cars and tore through a line of electric and telephone wires. One of the transmission wires of radio station WINS was severed in the accident, throwing the station off the air for 48 minutes.

After striking the wires, the plane "pancaked" into the field. The top of an automobile the plane struck was torn off and the windshield of another was shattered.

Production of passenger automobiles in the United States during 1940 reached 3,802,454 units with a value of $2,494,409,824, an average of $656 a car.

W. C. T. U. Would Supplant Hard "Likker" With Milk

By FRANK J. BURKE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20—In a two-pronged campaign to increase health and prosperity in Pennsylvania, 30,00 members of the women's Christian Temperance Union are mobilizing today under the motto "Milk and apples—instead of alcohol."

Throughout every section of the state will go ambassadors advocating these health-giving substitutes for alcoholic beverages, revealed Mrs. Ella B. Black, of Beaverdale, president of the W. C. T. U. in the Keystone State.

Ideally Situated

"Pennsylvania is ideally situated for the promotion of dairy products and apple farming," explained Mrs. Black in an interview during the union's 67th convention in Philadelphia. More than 500 delegates are attending the five-day session.

"No state in the world has finer dairy herds than Pennsylvania and none has finer soil and better climate for producing tasty apples," declared the state president. "There wouldn't be so many people on relief if we made more use of these opportunities.

"Under our plan," Mrs. Black revealed, "apple juice stands and milk dispensaries would dot the length and breadth of Pennsylvania in the same fashion as orange juice dispensaries in Florida and California."

Mrs. Black believes the people of this state will respond to the campaign—that they are willing and anxious to further the cause of temperance.

"The youths of today," she asserted, "are beginning to realize that with the crushing taxes and other burdens brought by the war, they must have clear minds and strong bodies to face these problems."

"In the last legislature, we had to face the argument that revenue from liquor is a great value to the state. The fact is that for every dollar of revenue, the commonwealth must spend at least $3 to take care of the wreck and ruin left in our institutions and in our broken homes by the liquor traffic.

"For example," asserted the militant temperance leader, "from 60 to 70 per cent of those in Huntingdon Reformatory are there, directly or indirectly, as the result of drink. At the Morganza institution, there are 800 boys and girls and most of these come from homes shattered by liquor."

In conclusion, Mrs. Black paid tribute to Pennsylvania as a "great" temperance state. The commonwealth, she disclosed, leads the nation in contributions for alcohol education—the distribution of pamphlets telling what alcohol "is and does."

Emotions are described as "agitated strong feelings."

How strong are these feelings and how do they affect us?

Emotional factors may cause gastrointestinal upsets, we know.

Skin reacts to emotional stimuli as in blushing and sweating.

Eczema is frequently associated with emotional stresses.

Diseases of body organs have associated emotional-personality upsets.

Acne or pimples on the face may influence the emotional life.

Thyroid disease produces severe changes in mind and feelings.

Heart action is sensitive and responsive to ideas and emotions.

There is no purely mental illness, nor one purely physical.

Emotion and bodily changes are interrelated.

The special study of this understanding is known as psychiatry.

"HOW CAN I GET A LOAN?"

What to do to borrow $20 to $300 quickly and simply—How you may repay in convenient monthly installments

WOULD A $100 or $200 loan come in handy this month? Have you old bills you would like to clean up with a loan?

If you have a job, you may borrow up to $300 at Household Finance in a simple, private transaction. Then you may repay your loan in monthly installments arranged to fit your own income and paydays.

3 ways to borrow

Suppose that you need $100. The table shows that 12 monthly installments of $9.75 each will repay a $100 loan in full. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.97 a month will repay a $100 loan in 18 months.

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay. Household Finance loans are made in three ways. First way: On your personal note. No security required. This type of loan is made, when circumstances warrant, to both single persons and married couples. Second way: On your car. This plan may best fit your needs. Third way: On your furniture. This plan is used by thousands. Here character and income are far more important than the value of your security. Your loan will be made the way which best fits your own situation.

Other important points: It is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your money affairs. You get your loan quickly and simply.

Get your loan for less

Payments in the table include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100 and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. Some finance companies do charge more. We publish our rates and payments to help you shop for your loan.

If you need money for an emergency, bring your problem to Household. Or just phone and say that you need a loan. We are here to serve you. Phone or visit us without obligation.

Residents Believe Another Light Is Needed In District

Indicate Traffic Light At Another Intersection Would Check Speeding Here

Rather than remove the present traffic light at the corner of North Liberty street and Madison avenue residents of the district believe that another traffic light is badly needed along Liberty street.

The absence of a traffic light on the entire length of this street causes motorists to speed from one end to the other, thus endangering the lives of many persons. According to a number of residents, they believe that another light, probably at the intersection of Cherry street or Wabash avenue, would tend to check this urge for speed.

C. Of C. Reports Building Will Be Unhampered

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 20.—The Chamber of Commerce received word from Sullivan W. Jones, chief of the Housing priorities Division of the Office of Production Management to the effect that there would be no interference in the building of moderately priced homes by private individuals, operative builders, or other forms of private enterprise, as long as these homes are in designated defense areas such as Ellwood City.

It was stated that home building is just as vital to defense plans as any of the critical defense materials, and that there was no intention by the Government to discourage the building of moderate priced homes of $8,000 or under in value. It was even brought out that there is a strong possibility that priorities will be established on homes up to $7,500.00. While certain items in the home will be subject to priorities, this will not interfere with the progress of the work provided that the contractor applies for priorities at the beginning of the job. Proper application for priorities will be established on certain materials and contractors should receive their number and rating from Mr. Charles I. Cruciger District Manager, Priority Field Service, Office of Priority numbers in the Federal Reserve Banl Building in Pittsburgh. Under these conditions there is no reason why this winter should not be an ideal time to build a home.

Petition For Bus Line Extension To Be Withdrawn

Would Delay Start Of Bus Line Operation Throughout Entire City

Following a conference in council today which lasted two hours W. E. Erk, County Line street, notified the Public Utilities commission that he would withdraw a petition he had presented in behalf of some Third ward residents concerning proposed bus service in the Ray and County Line street districts.

When council met Vice President W. H. Muldoon of the Shenango Valley Transportation was present. Erk, who is on the committee with L. E. Cramer, W. J Durant and Charles E. Patterson proposed a bus route from County Line street via Crawford avenue to Croton avenue and better service than at present.

This route would replace the Walnut, East Main and Walnut street route, now traversed by street cars.

Council indicated to Erk they favored his proposal and said they would ask for the extension.

In order that council be permitted to take up all proposed extensions simultaneously when operations begin, and without the formality of having negotiations hung up by PUC hearings, Erk agreed to withdraw the petition he presented which was signed by 139 persons.

Community Chest Drive Under Way

Citizens Urged To Aid—Ask Workers To Make Reports At Once

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct 20.—Workers on the Community Chest Drive are urged to turn their cards and money into their Captain immediately as Chest officials wish to keep the public informed daily on the results of the drive.

Practically all captains had their workers out on the job today soliciting homes, business establishments, city workers, gasoline dealers, garages, transportation employees, school teachers, utility employees.

Industries, professional men, clubs and lodges, have been asked by letter to send their contributions in directly to the Chest committee.

It is hoped that everyone will take care of their contribution to Ellwood City's charity and character building drive immediately so that the necessary amount needed to carry on the good work of the nine agencies cooperating with the Chest might be taken care of. $18,000 of the $25,000 will be given over to the Ellwood City Hospital for maintenance and the construction of a greatly needed addition to the present building. Our hospital has played an important part in the home of every family in this community as have the other agencies of the Chest such as the Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, U. S. O., Welfare Fund, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and the British War Relief.

Sons Of Italy Enjoy Banquet

Observe Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Last Night—Judge Musmanno Speaks

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 20.—Marking 25 years of service as a fraternal and civic organization, the Sons of Italy lodge No. 608 of Ellwood City held an anniversary banquet Sunday night in the club quarters on Lawernce avenue. Approximately 500 were present.

Attorney Michael A. Barletta acted as the toastmaster of the evening. Following an invocation by Rev. Joseph Pernatozzi and the singing of America the crowd enjoyed a chicken dinner. The first speaker on the program was the Venerable of the lodge, Angelo Squicquero, who read the history of the lodge. In it he spoke of the struggles of the early years, the valiant work of the founders and the satisfaction enjoyed by those founders in which the organization has grown.

Brief addresses were made by R. J. Schill, secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce; Lee Mason, general superintendent of the National Tube company; District Attorney John G. Lamoree, Attorney Ray W. Humphrey and Rev. Vincent Galliano of the Blessed Virgin Mary church.

The principal speaker of the evening was Judge Michael A. Musmanno of the Allegheny county courts. In his address Judge Musmanno lauded the work of the Sons of Italy, urged a continuance of their stand upon Americanism, and scored those elements that today are endeavoring to inculcate class and racial hatred in the minds of the people. Among other things Judge Musmanno said:

"This organization has gone on record as opposing every foreign ism, naziism, fascism and communism. The president of the United States has complimented this organization on this patriotic declaration. This organization is made of Americans of Italian descent and there is no group more loyal to the Stars and Stripes. Records show that with enlistments and selective service, more than 20 per cent of those entering the army at present are Americans of Italian descent.

"America is one land in the world where intolerance is genuinely condemned, as it should be. The person in America who abuses a fellow-citizen or a fellow human being because of diversity of religious denomination or of racial origin, is unworthy of the protecting folds of the American flag, woven as it is from the silken threads of religious freedom and boundless tolerance The person in America who makes a speech, writes an article or distributes literature condemning, ridiculing or pilloring another race for racial reasons alone is either ignorant of the history of this land, or is motivated by an ideology that has its roots in soil unwatered from American skies.

"America offers a religious freedom, a spiritual expanse, an economic outlook, educational opportunity and cultural development unsurpassed in the world. And the man in America who overlooks these obvious, inevitable and unbudgeable facts, the man who here takes the shield which this nation has offered him and beats it into a sword with which to persecute his fellow-man is no longer worthy of American citizenship. For him Columbus voyage was a worthless and futile venture."

Miss Margaret Irwin Marries R. Marquis

Ceremony Performed Saturday Afternoon At First Presbyterian Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct 20 — The First Presbyterian church was the scene of a lovely wedding on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when Miss Margaret Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Irwin, of Fourth street, became the bride of Raymond Marquis, of Beaver Falls.

The church was attractively decorated with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums. The impressive single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Dr. H. M. Stevenson, in the presence of many relatives and friends of the couple. A program of nupital music and the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Marjorie Streeter, church organist, preceding the ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a becoming street length blue velvet dress with which she wore wine accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Robert Kelly, twin sister of the bride, was her only attendant and she wore a dusty rose velvet dress with blue accessories and a corsage of baby mums.

David Marquis served his brother as best man.

After the congratulatory period, a reception for relatives and friends took place at the bride's home. Buffet refreshments arranged about an attractive wedding cake were served. Guests attended from Cleveland, Indiana, Wheeling, Warren, O., and New York.

Later in the day, the couple left on a wedding trip to Cleveland and other points and after their return will reside in Eighth avenue, Beaver Falls.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school and has been employed by the Sunlite Corporation at Warren, O. The bridegroom graduated from Beaver Falls high school, attended Pitt University, and is now associated with the J. and L. company at Aliquippa.

Mrs. Floyd Barto of Orchard avenue and Mrs. William Smith of Rockdale visited relatives at Valencia on Sunday.

Urge Repeal Of Neutrality

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—A resolution to repeal the neutrality act was introduced in the senate today by three Republicans shortly after the senate foreign relations committee voted to hold secret hearings on the house-approved bill to arm ships.

The repealer was offered as an amendment to the house measure and was sponsored by Senators Austin, Vt.; Bridges, N. H., and Gurney S. D.

In a statement, Gurney urged this program even though it might "lead in the direction of war" for this country. Bridges asserted that should congress wipe out the act, it would not only strengthen the morale of Russia and Great Britain but would "exert a powerful influence on Japan".

"It would tend directly to restrain her (Japan) from spreading this war over the Pacific," Bridges said "It would thus be a most practical step to avert American involvement upon both oceans."

The senate committee voted secret hearings despite protests of "gag".

Slate Harmon For Early Induction

(International News Service)

GARY, Ind., Oct. 20.—Unless he appeals directly to President Roosevelt for reconsideration of his status, Tom Harmon, former Michigan all-American football star, appeared headed today for early induction into the army.

The Gary gridiron star, placed in 1-A classification by his local board, appealed the ruling on the ground he is the sole support of his parents, but his appeal was denied Saturday night by a Lake county selective service appeal board. Under the draft act, Harmon's only remaining hope for reclassification would lie in an application to the President.

Berlin Report Asserts "Over-Age" Destroyer Among Those Sent Down

PART OF CONVOY OF ATLANTIC SHIPS

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—German authorities expressed belief today that a former United States over-age destroyer, one of 50 turned over to England, was sunk during last week's U-boat attack on a British convoy in which two destroyers and 10 ships were sent to the bottom of the Atlantic.

An official report said one of the destroyers "apparently was one of the so-called Churchill class ships, formerly American, which were sold to England."

Describing the attack on the convoy in adverse weather conditions during which the submarines maintained constant vigilance against destroyers, the report said:

"Like mad dogs, the destroyers chased around in all directions, but the submarines persisted tenaciously.

"At dawn one of the destroyers suddenly rushed out of the mist directly in front of a submarines torpedo tubes. The torpedo hit amidships, breaking the destroyer in two and sending it to the bottom within a few seconds.

(Editor's note: Up to a late hour today German officials offered no new comment on the torpedoing of the United States destroyer Kearny. Previously they contended the destroyer had not been torpedoed by a German submarine and expressed belief that the entire episode was a frame-up.)

Jameson Hospital Shares Chest Fund

JAMESON MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

On August 22, 1929, Mrs. David Jameson gave to the citizens of New Castle and the county of Lawrence, in the name of her husband who had gone on, the Jameson Memorial hospital. She also gave in her own behalf and that of her daughter, Mrs. William D. McCreery, the nurses' home.

For many years Mr. David Jameson cherished a desire to contribute to his fellow citizens an evidence of his love for his home and his people. Mr. Jameson passed on before his dream became a reality but continued thought and work by Mrs. Jameson and daughter made possible the hospital.

Now in 1941, the lengthened shadow of this great man still falls across this favored community, a shadow made up of kindness, of charity and benevolence, a shadow that has encompassed many days of pain, suffering, sickness and disease, and encompassing them has banished them to the limbo of forgotten things.

The Jameson Memorial hospital is one of the nine agencies participating in the Community Chest. We believe that the citizens of New Castle and county of Lawrence will do their utmost in contributing to the Community Chest fund so that the Jameson hospital may continue its charitable work made possible through its share in the money raised by our annual Community Chest drive.

By the will of the people, this memorial will continue for years as a benefactor to mankind and a growing blessing to the memory of the name Jameson.

HARRIMAN WILL TELL PRESIDENT ABOUT RUSSIA

BULLETIN

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 20.—President Roosevelt suddenly called W. Averell Harriman to Hyde Park for a luncheon conference today so he might receive an immediate and detailed first-hand report of Harriman's findings in Russia as head of the American mission to Moscow.

MOSCOW MAKES READY TO STAND AGAINST SIEGE

tional prisoners taken and equipment destroyed in the annihilation battles of Vyazma and Bryansk.

(In Tokyo the Japan Times-Advertiser, organ of the Japanese foreign office, warned that use of Vladivostok in dispatching American war supplies to Russia "is beset with danger of spreading the war to eastern Asia."

(The London Daily Express quoted Vice Air Marshal Conway Pulford, commander of the British and Australian air forces in the Far East, as promising that "we will attack any aggressor to the limit of the range of our aircraft" and describing the Japanese air force as an "unknown quantity" which has "never engaged anyone except the air force of China, which is very weak.")

Claim Break Through

The Moscow radio announced that large detachments of Russian troops encircled on the western sector of the front broke through the German ring and rejoined the main Soviet forces.

It said low clouds, rain and fog hampered aerial activity on both sides, but that Russian bombers nevertheless successfuly attacked a German tank concentration. Compelled to fly at extremely low altitudes, the radio broadcast stated, the Russian bombers were spattered with mud thrown up by the explosions of their own bombs.

Another Moscow broadcast said the Germans had resumed their attacks in the Orel district southwest of Moscow, which the Russians recaptured last week.

Following a heavy and continuous artillery bombardment, this account said, the Germans attempted to cross the Oka river.

Sink Many Nazi Boats

Defending Soviet units held back their fire until the German troop-filled assault boats were in the middle of the river. Then, said the broadcast, the Russians opened up a "murderous machine gun fire, sinking many of the boats, while the remainder retreated."

Meanwhile, Moscow became a veritable fortress, ready for house-to-house and street-to-street combat as Stalin proclaimed the state of siege and demanded that the capital be defended to the "last drop of our blood."

Stalin acted after two Nazi spearheads broke through outer fortifications and came within some 60 miles of the city's gates, hammering forward on Moscow's western and southwestern approaches.

Admitting these German advances, a Soviet high command communique said Russian troops, now reported under Stalin's direct command, had "beaten off" further German efforts to penetrate Moscow's city limits.

Stalin, acting as chairman of the state defense committee, signed the state of siege decree, which took effect this morning in Moscow and surrounding regions. It ordered summary death for any saboteurs or spies caught aiding the Germans and established a nightly curfew during which all motor and pedestrian traffic must cease save by special permit.

Westminster Defeats Geneva 7-0 Saturday At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 20.—Dominating the game throughout, Westminster's Blue-and-White-jerseyed gridders marked up their third victory of the season here Saturday defeating a stubborn Geneva eleven 7-0 on a rain-soaked field and in a drizzling downpour.

A blocked Geneva punt on their own seven-yard line cost the Covenanters the game, as Glass, Titan line-smashing center, fell on the ball and slid across the Geneva goal-line.

Although Geneva marked up five first downs to four for the Titans, the Covenanters never threatened the Titan zero-line. In the final quarter, Geneva backs desperately took to the air but the alert Titan backs either batted passes down or the Blue and White linesmen rushed the Covenanter passers into tossing the ball into ineffective territory.

It was Titan Center Park Glass, Connellsville freshman, who again, as in the Tech game, opened the way for the initial touchdown score by blocking an opposition kick, and it was the same Glass who put the Titans in a scoring position by intercepting a Covenanter pass on the Geneva 25-yard line. Glass fumbled the interception but Capt. Pete Evanoff recovered for the Titans. Then started the touchdown drive toward the Geneva goal that resulted in the single touchdown of the afternoon.

Kaps Are Guests

It was "Kappa Phi Lambda day" on the campus, in celebrating of the 80th anniversary of the fraternity's founding in 1862. Over 100 members of the fraternity returned to the campus for the Geneva-Westminster game and the day's festivities.

Because of the slippery field, much of the game was spent in a punting duel between Westminster's Dick Newton and Geneva's Medrocostis, with both kickers about even on yardage. In spite of the rain and mud, there were but few fumbles to mar the game.

In the opening quarter the Titans threatened the Geneva goal-line, when Newton intercepted a Covenanter pass on the Westminster 10-yard line and returned to the 40. Murphy picked up five around end, Riggle went through center for 4, and then repeated for a first-down. Newton then broke through left tackle for 25 yards, and Murphy circled right end for 8 more. Geneva stiffened, however, and the Titans were forced to punt on fourth down.

Westminster Scores

The Westminster touchdown came in the fourth quarter. On their own 25-yard line, the Covenanters passed, but Glass intercepted for Westminster. It was the Titan call on the Geneva 25-yard line, and the Blue and White began to roll. Newton broke through left tackle for 3 yards and then circled left end for 11 yards to the Geneva 11-yard line. Dale Riggle, Titan fullback, hit tackle for a yard and Murphy went around end for two more. Murphy's pass on the fourth down to Joe Demoise was no good, and Geneva took the ball. Failing to gain, Medricostis dropped back to punt, but Glass broke through to block the kick and bring the Titans the winning touchdown.

Joe Demoise place-kicked for the extra point.

In the fourth quarter, Baier and Perz threw 12 passes but made little headway, with Glass and Evanoff of Westminster intercepting two of the Geneva tosses. The game ended with the Titans in possession of the ball on the Geneva 39-yard line.

Glass, Zech and Joe Demoise on the left side of the Westminster line, consistently broke through to spoil the maneuvers of the Geneva backs.

Shenango Township high's County Class B fracas with Union Township high looms as one of the key battles of another star-studded football week-end here.

The county rivals are billed to swap grid wits at Union high field, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Scotland Laners' title hopes received a terrific jolt recently when they dropped a decision to Bessemer. Shenango has not tasted league action as yet.

Friday night, New Castle high battles Campbell Memorial at Taggart stadium. The "Canes" are still nursing a few bruises sustained in Friday's atavistic battle with Washington. The Bridenbaugh machine lines up in quest of its eighth consecutive triumph of the season.

Over in Aliquippa, Ellwood City high, undefeated to date, encounters one of the best Quip elevens in the history of the school, Friday evening. The Wolverines chalked up one of their most important victories of the current campaign, brushing aside a rough Midland club, last week.

Saturday afternoon, Westminster college journeys to Greenville for its annual clash with Thiel college.

Scienceville high faces Bessemer high at Bessemer on Saturday afternoon.

Following one of the toughest football week-ends of the season, county elevens are scheduled to return to the practice fields this afternoon to start girding for the opponents ahead.

Fourth place Pittsburgh in the National could divide $11,854 while players of the Cleveland and Detroit nines, deadlocked for fourth in the American, could split $5,927 among each team.

Mentors And Seers Have Thumping Headaches; Underdogs Prevail

MICHIGAN'S WIN IS TOP FEATURE

Many erudite gentlemen who teach the intricacies of a game played with a prolate spheroid and a lot of guys who have the temerity to predict the outcome of college games in print today are still nursing thumping headaches following a week-end studded with as many surprises as a fun house in a park.

It was dog day or another way of saying that the underdog prevailed. Such bigwigs as Dartmouth, Northwestern, Columbia, Texas Christian Rice, Baylor, Nebraska and Cornell saw their bright colors dunked into defeat paint for the first time this season.

In thumbnail form, here's what happened:

Wildcats Tamed, 14-7

Inspired by the presence of Tom Harmon among the 48,000 fans on hand for the day's top billing, Michigan punctured Northwesterns hopes of a perfect season, 14-7. The Wolverines, after thwarting four scoring threats, copped the spectacle in the fourth period on an electrifying 46-yard pitch by sensational Tom Kuzma to preserve their spotless mark.

After cakewalking to an easy 16 point margin in the first half, Ohio State folded like a ten-cent baseball but managed to cop its first Big Ten tussle, 16-14, luckless Purdue being on the short end. The undefeated and untied Buckeyes looked superb in the opening half but lost their finesse following the intermission.

Georgia tore a hole in Columbia's clean sheet, nudging the Little-coached eleven, 7-3. Duke clung to its perch in the undefeated tree but was forced to come from behind to bowl over stubborn Colgate, 27-14. Coming to life after being shoved all over the field for a half hour, Navy continued its winning ways, spoiling Cornell's record, 14-0.

Army Downs Yale, 20-7

After spotting Yale a touchdown in the first minute of play, Army kept pace with the remaining undefeated clubs, drubbing the Eli, 20-7. Harvard racked up its first victory over Dartmouth, brushing the McLaughrymen by a 7-0 count. Stymied throughout the first half, powerful Pennsylvania racked up its third straight victory, dunking Princeton, 23-0.

Fordham hurdled another obstacle on its way to the Rose Bowl, kayoing West Virginia, 27-0. Minnesota, the nation's No. 1 team, annihilated punchless Pitt 39-0 and Notre Dame matched along the unbeaten path, 16-0. Carnegie Tech being the victim. Mississippi simply had too much on the ball for Holy Cross, the southerners returning home with an impressive 21-0 triumph.

Temple's smoothies repelled Penn State 14-0 to remain in the same class with other unbeaten college steamrollers. Syracuse ran roughshod over New York U., gaining an easy 31-0 win. Boston College piled up a comfortable lead and then coasted to a 25-13 victory over Manhattan. Alabama handed Tennessee its first conference loss since 1937 winning by a baseball score, 9-2.

Vandy Still Unbeaten

Vanderbilt's colors still flutter in the air as a result of a sparkling 14-7 decision gained over Carnegie Tech. Unbeaten Vandy was outplayed but managed to win when the tilt ended. Tulane handed North Carolina one of its worst shellackings 51-6. Southern Methodist chalked up an easy 20-7 nod over Auburn. Maryland engineered one of the top surprises, edging Florida, 13-12.

Santa Clara, the lone unbeaten club on the Far West, was extended to eke out a 7-0 decision over Michigan State. Washington U. kept in line for the coast title by flattening U. C. L. A., 14-7. Oregon employed too much grid finesse and eradicated California, 19-7. Southern California finally returned to its winning ways, nosing out Washington State, 7-6. Stanford kept the scorers busy in running up a 42-26 count over San Francisco.

Marquette walloped Kansas, 33-7 and Tulsa walked over St. Louis by an identical score Illinois breezed in with a 40-0 drubbing of Drake. Missouri impressively won over Iowa State, 39-13. Indiana recorded one of the day's surprises, handing Nebraska its first setback 21-13. Detroit moved along undefeated, jarring Oklahoma A. & M., 20-14.

Wisconsin Scores Upset

Wisconsin, which had been pushed all over the gridiron, found the winning formula and upset Iowa 23-0. Oklahomaas "a' formation, a new wrinkle in the game, netted the Sooners a 16-0 win over Kansas State. Creighton had just enough to whip Washington of St. Louis, 14-13.

Louisiana State's rejuvenated eleven shattered Rices unbeaten hopes, 27-0, for one of the major reversals. Texas University's talented machine crushed Arkansas, 48-14 and Texas A. & M. maintained its clean record by pasting Texas Christians, 14-0. This marked T C U.'s initial setback.

Western Reserve blanked Baldwin-Wallace, 19-0 while Kentucky spilled Xavier, 21-6. Little Thiel rolled over Hiram, 34-0. Westminster college electrified a big Homecoming Day gallery by clipping Geneva 7-0. Lafayette mashed Muhlenberg, 40-0. Brown easily sidetracked Tufts, 28-6. W. & J. fooled the wise guys by spanking Buffalo 14-6.

Waynesburg managed to squeeze by Shippensburg, 6-0. Grove City handed Allegheny its 16th straight loss, 13-0. Indiana State whipped Slippery Rock, 13-0. Virginia went on another scoring spree, piling up a 27-7 edge over V. M. I. Wake Forest was held down to a 7-0 count by North Carolina State.

With the pigskin season approaching the halfway mark, only 16 major clubs sport perfect slates. The select group includes:

Fordham, Navy, Army Pennsylvania, Temple, Ohio State, Michigan, Minnesota, Notre Dame, Vanderbilt, Santa Clara, Texas U., Texas A. & M., Clemson and Duquesne.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports bits picked up along the sidelines:—

There is a slight possibility that the George Washington-Ben Franklin junior high championship game may be played on Thursday night, October 30, under the bulbs of Taggart stadium. Efforts are being made we understand, to gain permission to make the charge. The idea is an excellent one, to our way of thinking . . .

Numerous members of the sports gentry, unable to watch the junior high gridders in action during the afternoon, undoubtedly would take advantage of the opportunity. After all, the major thing that appears to be involved is a bit of electricity. The congregation on hand, we feel, would more than offset the cost involved. . . .

By racking up a pair of safeties in the same quarter New Castle high pulled a feat as rare in football as the no-hit no-run gem in baseball. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and Ralph H. Gardner, former faculty manager of the high school, both agreed that they had never seen this unusual happening. . . .

Mel Hein, the "Iron Man" of professional football, played 148 games in 11 seasons. . . . Allegheny college has dropped 16 consecutive football games . . . Minnesota bids for its 13th consecutive win come this Saturday. The unlucky figure eluded Stanford, remember? . . . . Pitt has yet to score a victory over Minnesota—in football. . . .

In the cauliflower ranks tonight, we pick Lem Franklin, our candidate for the heavyweight championship when and if he gets a little shot, to maul down awkward Abe Simon. . . . Bill Chewning, Navy's 220 pound tackle, can out sprint any gridder on the squad! . . . New York turf addicts have put more than 130 million greenbacks through the mutual machines this year. . . .

The East is blessed with an unusually large number of potential All-Americans. Navy has Bill Busik; Fordham, Jim Blumenstock; Temple has Andy Tomasic; Penn has Bert Stiff and Columbia has a pair of lulus in Paul Governali and Don Snavely . . . Navy piled up five touchdowns in each of its first three games and five backs did all the scoring.

Elder Players Given Jackets

Elder Committee Rewards Players For Fine Work During Past Season

The Elder A. C. baseball team ended its 1941 season on Saturday night at Orr's hall with a buffet lunch after which Joe Eddy, general chairman of the Elder committee, took over as toastmaster and after a fine talk on the past diamond season, presented each member of the team with a very fine sweater.

The following received sweaters: Manager Joe O'Leary. Coaches Frank "Jewie" Coen and Cubby Culbertson, Dave Ritchey, trainer; Roy Cooper, ground keeper; Mickie Huff, Huck Davies, Red Bevan, Dudey Fruitt, Walter Fruitt, Eddie Todd, Lefty Gibson, Tommy Straubaugh, Coke Rote, Carl "Dick" Witherow, John Kolik, Paul Coulter, Leroy Anderson, Dory Gunnett, Don Baker, Thorton "Humpy" Broadbent, the scorekeeper, and Billy Newton, the lad who ran the scoreboard.

Joe Eddy, Andrew "Andy" McElroy and Joe Todd, members of the Elder committee, served the lunch. Charles "Bugs" Walther of The News was a special guest.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Indications are there'll be no fifth game in the series between Hillsville and Ellwood City and the championship of the Lawrence County Baseball league will be undetermined for 1941. After an agreement had been reached to play the fifth game at Ellwood City Sunday, Business Manager Charles Maietta of Ellwood City before game time called Hillsville and notified Frank Conti that because of wet grounds the game could not be played. Some Hillsville players already had gone to Ellwood City. According to Conti there was some water behind a couple of the bases but the infield was dry and some youngsters were playing football in the outfield. He expressed the opinion that the water spots could have been dried out. He indicated today that Hillsville would not make any new efforts to play the fifth game.

Chris Williams, national A. A. U. runner-up, who lost to Les Leisure, Thursday night at Youngstown, will receive a chance to redeem himself here Wednesday, October 29. He came here yesterday and asked Matchmaker Tom Leach of the Jefferson A. C. to arrange a return bout. It has been arranged.

Campbell Plays Here On Friday

New Castle High Will Gun For Eighth Win Of Current Season, Friday Night

New Castle high school football team will be gunning on Friday night at Taggart Stadium for its eighth straight win of the current season, and the 20th win out of the last 21 played when they battle the Campbell Memorial high eleven.

The "Red Hurricane" entered the Washington high game somewhat crippled up, and the "Little Presidents" went to work on several of the cripples to the extent that it will be a rather patched up lineup that faces the Ohioans Friday night. The game last Friday was one of the roughest here in quite some time.

Start Workouts Today

Campbell lost a tough one to the undefected Warren High eleven last Friday 12 to 10. Campbell has had a mediocre season to date-losing to Warren, Alliance, Youngstown South, and winning from Youngstown East 7 to 0, and Youngstown Ursuline 24 to 0.

New Castle looked impressive as they walloped a good well-balanced Washington team last week. Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh is anxious to win over the Campbell team and had the squad out at Taggart stadium this afternoon for its first workout in preparation for the Campbell battle.

Cooper-Marcella Leaving For Army

When the St. Vitus church basketball team, Class AA champions of the New Castle Church league last season, begin practice this season, they will be minus two of their star performers, Joe Cooper and Fred Marcella.

Cooper is perhaps one of the finest young basketball players in New Castle, and turned in the amazing record of over 500 points as a member of St. Vitus and a like number as a member of the Fannins. Marcella, like Cooper, is also a fine forward. Both boys helped no end in giving the Saints their championship last season. The Saints won 27 straight games last year to set a local record.

Both boys will leave to Join Uncle Sam's Army on October 30.

There are two kinds of men: those who are getting something done, and those who have time to argue.

Father & Son Week

THE WINTER CO.

Like father, like son applies to lots of different habits. We've catered to the clothing needs of three generations of Lawrence county men, and we think we know. One of those habits is the choice of clothing, and when Junior sees Dad looking handsome and neat, he wants to look the same. So Dad brings him down to The Winter Co. where he gets his own clothes, and gets Junior fixed up. Lawrence county men know quality.

FROM ME TO YOU

Tonight at seven o'clock the Wampum horse show will start . . . all those who were disappointed last Saturday expect to be on hand. Rain and outside horse shows just don't go together. From all reports, tonight's show will be a gala affair . . . so why not plan to drive down to Wampum . . . and see some mighty fine horse flesh.

Double parking in the downtown streets is becoming once again a problem . . . Saturday is a bad day for traffic anyhow, and last Saturday was a hum-dinger, rain and people buying . . . in spite of all this commotion the city police were out doing their best to keep traffic snarls clear. Some people just don't give a hoot what they do, they have absolutely no respect for the rights of others . . . there are a lot of people like that in this world. Take for instance the folks who make a promise and then never keep it. You know them, every one knows them . . . probably in your acquaintance you have some particular couple who operate their home along that basis. There's one in every group, you know, invite them for dinner, just a little snack . . . have someone else tell them that they are going to have a bigger and better dinner or snack . . . nine times out of ten this "peculiar" family will call the first invitation at the last moment and make some excuse for not accepting, and turn around and accept the one which looks maybe a little brighter. But it's funny how word gets around and it doesn't take long to be put on the "peculiar" list.

May we quote from a little article that was found on our desk . . and we think maybe it has something that might make us all think a little . . . we quote "One night a few months ago the Nazi bombers caused the Brightside and Carbrook Co-operative Society in Sheffield, England a loss of some $2,000,000 in American money . . . Surveying the ruins the next morning, the departmental manager remarked: 'Well, we start without any complaints this morning!' . . . Whereupon, without murmuring, the employes cleared away the wreckage, set up temporary trading booths, resumed business and began laying plans for a modern department store 'after the war'."

"We start without any complaints this morning." How many of us here in this still blest land carry such a spirit of acceptance into our normal lives?

Stock Market Is Steady Today

Combined Price Averages Rule Shade Higher During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The stock market was quiet and steady today after the week-end recovery, which had checked a tumble on Far Eastern developments.

Combined price averages ruled a shade higher, although several individual issues slipped behind minus signs.

Prices were steady at the opening, and the majority of leaders advanced slowly as the session progressed. The modest rise lost headway late in the second hour, but the list maintained a firm undertone.

There were a few notable changes. Consolidated Aircraft, ex one share of stock for each share held, ran up more than a point in moderately active dealings. General Foods was another to gain about a point.

U. S. Gypsum, down more than a point, and Westinghouse Electric each slipped to new lows for the year. Cerro de Pasco and General Electric were down a point or more.

Fractional gains were chalked up by U. S. Steel, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, Loew's, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Standard Oil of N. J. and Continental Can.

Bethlehem, Kennecott, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison and Libbey-Owens-Ford were among the stocks to lose ground.

Bank President Is Victim Of Holdup, Robbers Get $12,000

Three Bandits Pose As Officers And Force Bank Head To Stop His Car

(International News Service)

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 20—Posing as policemen, three bandits robbed Gideon Gerber, 68-year-old president of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Bluffton, Ind., of $12,000 in currency near here today. The robbers were dressed as police officers and were riding in a black automobile bearing a police siren which they used when they overtook the automobile of the bank president on road 1 six miles south of Fort Wayne.

Gerber, thinking the bandits were state policemen obeyed their command to pull over to the side of the road.

"Identify yourself," one of the robbers commanded.

After Gerber produced identification cards, another bandit said: "I guess this is the man."

Whereupon he struck the bank president over the head with the butt of his revolver, injuring him.

Then two of the robbers entered Gerber's car and forced him to drive to a lonely country lane about a mile away. After seizing the money, which the bank head was carrying from the Lincoln National Savings and Trust Bank at Fort Wayne to his own institution, the bandits bound their victim with wire and forced him to lie face down in the back seat of his car. Then they taak the ignition keys and fled.

Hitler Assailed As Highwayman

Secretary Hull Condemns Attack Made Upon U. S. Destroyer Kearny

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Secretary of State Hull today assailed Adolph Hitler as an international highwayman in connection with the torpedo attack on the U. S. Destroyer Kearny off Iceland.

Condemning this latest attack on an American ship as one more move in Hitler's plan to get control of the seas, as well as the European continent, Hull said he supposed that if the German leader succeeded in driving people off the seas he then would want them to get off the earth.

Asked whether the United States government was planning any diplomatic protest to Germany over the loss of lives in the Kearny incident Hull replied that one doesn't very often send diplomatic notes to an international highwayman. The navy has announced that the Kearny is now in an undisclosed port with 11 men missing and 10 injured.

Hull remarked that Hitler has notified all nations to keep out of an area approimately 1600 miles by 1500 miles of the ocean, covering a large portion of the north Atlantic.

No nation, Hull said, in self defense or otherwise, is permitted to send ships into that area without the danger of having them sunk on sight.

Mr. Hitler, Hull reiterated, proposes to drive other countries, by a policy of intimidation and frightfulness, off the high seas as part of his plan of world conquest by force.

Meanwhile, two senators joined with the leader of the non-interventionist forces, Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., in demanding that the Senate Naval Affairs committee determine the circumstances surrounding the Kearny incident.
